

Competitive attributes of Mansoura University

- The first Egyptian university accredited by the National Authority for Quality Assurance of Education and Accreditation.
- A prestigious university for 50 years, a university celebrating its golden jubilee.
- A strong technological structure, as evidenced by the fact that the university's technology center ranked first in digital transformation among Egyptian universities.
- Distinctive medical centers and hospitals - living kidney and liver transplant programs.
- Graduates hold distinguished positions at the level.
- The university is distinguished in international classification.
- The university has a number of faculty staff members who have won local and international awards.
- Distinctive infrastructure for colleges, hospitals, an Olympic village, a clean environment, and green gardens with a distinctive plant arrangement.
- Unparalleled research centers in Egyptian universities (stem cells and umbilical cord blood bank).
- Electronic systems and communications technology at the highest level that are unique to the university, such as the Ibn Al-Haytham system for managing student affairs, the Al-Farabi system for managing the quality of teaching and learning, the electronic system for exams, the question bank system, the Al-Amin system for managing stores and custody, the Al-Farouq system for files and entitlements, the document management and preservation system, and others.

Competitive attributes of the Faculty of Nursing

- The Faculty of Nursing, Mansoura University, obtained the highest grades in the standardized test nationwide among nursing faculties.
- The faculty won first place at the university level in the question bank competition.
- The presence of distinguished postgraduate programs that are unique to the Faculty of Nursing, Mansoura University, and at the local and regional levels, such as the Master's program in infection prevention and control, the Master's in evidence-based health care, in addition to the Master's in Total Quality Management and Patient Safety.
- The only Arab Board certificate at the level of Egyptian universities (Certificate of the Arab Council for Health Specializations in the field of emergency and disaster nursing)
- All educational programs at the faculty are based on credit hours.
- The largest nursing faculty that receives new students annually among Egyptian nursing faculties.
- Increasing the demand of private hospitals for internship students, such as Hospital 75375 - Shifa Al-Oorman - Magdi Yacoub Cardiology Hospital - Italian Hospital - Saudi German Hospital - Dar Al-Fouad and others.
- Applying model systems in teaching most nursing courses.
- The presence of distinguished research schools in most research fields in various specializations and an increase in international publishing rates.
- The presence of a cadre of faculty staff members with diverse experiences.
- The presence of active international protocols with many European and Arab countries and the exchange of faculty staff members from countries participating in international projects such as Erasmus.
- Implementing electronic correction and electronic testing systems.
- The faculty's participation in the Egypt Award for Government Excellence.